

What it takes to be a Refugee in the 21st Century.

A Refugee is a person who has been chased out of their own country, because of war, ~~religion~~, race, poverty etc. People are called asylum seekers until the people are recognized by the government. Syria and Afghanistans are one of the biggest area which produces many refugees.

People also migrate to other countries because of economic problems. ~~Their~~ people country which they live maybe the country which has a very high cost and low wages. This maybe because of no jobs and war. This makes the people to go out of the country. People

People migrate because their country might be facing some environmental problems; such as earthquakes, droughts and Tsunami. It causes ~~af~~ few food and it reduces the wages of them who eats in primary industries.

People who suffered with no houses due to tsunami was also migrated but the government might rebuild but the people may ~~maybe~~ ignore them.

Then people who use boat to reach the country border is called as boat people. People in Sri Lanka usually travel in boat mostly to Australia. It is very dangerous because they may not survive.

People also migrate for no security for their lives in countries like Syria, Afkhanistan, Bangladesh ~~etc~~ etc.

The people in those countries die mostly in war. They are not sure of their death. They ~~people~~ even show anger on small children too, without no reason. Parents are so worried about their children lives.

People who are being suffered by these following reasons are ~~being~~ helped by a team called UNHCR (United Nation ~~of~~ High Commissioner for Refugees) and Welsh Refugee Council.

They are provided with emergency medical aid, camps, foods and they wait until they are moved to a much better place or a much better safety place. Some people maybe resettled. Resettled means it is a hard because the country they have moved has different language and culture. Most of the people are moved to France, U.S.A, and Canada, because they are well-settled country.

We should try and help the refugees to have a good, peaceful life.
